Hi, I'm

Salman Nazari.

Human-Centered Designer

A bit about me 00

I design experiences around how people really think, feel and play. I started with 3D in 2016, studied game design in Istanbul, then learned what moves people by running an online store and a gamified competition for 60 students. Today I take ideas from sketch to working prototype.

My three worlds

Engagement Designer 01

I study what motivates people, then design journeys, rewards and feedback loops that keep them coming back.

Game Developer 02

I build playable prototypes and atmospheric levels, from the design document to the final lighting.

3D Artist 03

I model, texture, light and render products and environments until the picture tells its own story.
